Joe DiBartolomeo is an 18-year resident in District 5, enjoying all that the Bradenton community offers at the Tara Preserve with his wife, Helen, three sons and three grandchildren. He enjoys spending time with his sons either golfing, fishing or at the gun range and taking his wife and grandchildren to the beach or visiting any of our natural preserves or parks.

Joe's successful career is built in the areas of Financial Services, Transportation, Software and Automotive. As a small business owner for the last 25 years and an elected Manatee County CDD Supervisor for the last six years, his education, skills and experience provide the foundation to address many of Manatee County's financial, infrastructure, management, and communication challenges.

With a BA in Accounting from Rutgers University and a MBA in both Information Technology and Finance from Fairleigh Dickinson University, his formal education has created the knowledge required to understand the intricacies of budgetary and fiscal responsibility. This is vital to the efficient and effective governing of our county.

Joe's commitment to his community stems from being raised by his parents with a true commitment to family values and his catholic faith. He has a personal and vested interest in the protection of the Manatee County decisions at the Commissioner level.
